

PSYCHOLOGY CLUB SPONSORS VALENTINE'S DAY RAFFLE

By Andrea Tuliano, '05

NEWPORT, R.I. - The psychology club will be raffling off three valentine themed baskets filled with donations from local businesses and all of the proceeds raised will be donated to the Rhode Island Food Bank. A member of the club will be sitting at the table in O'Hare all week through Friday. The drawing will take place around noon on Friday (2/14) and the winners will be posted on Salve Today.

The baskets each have a theme. One basket has a dinner and a movie theme. It includes a $50 gift certificate to Sardella's and six free movie rentals to Bellevue video. It also includes candy and other items to make a perfect romantic night with that special someone.

A second basket has a candy theme. It is a chocolate lovers dream. From Hershey kisses to a special box donated by Newport chocolate the basket is sure to be a favorite among chocolate lovers everywhere. If that weren't enough the basket includes a plethora of other candies as well as a $20 gift certificate to Stop and Shop.

Still yet a third basket has a feminine theme. It includes candy donated by CVS. A box of sweet smelling soaps donated by Broadway florist, and many other things to bring out the true feminine side of the person that wins it (or the lucky woman who receives it as a gift).

The estimated retail value of all three baskets is $275. The baskets will prove to be a real treat for the winners, and will be an even bigger treat for the Rhode Island Food bank who will be receiving all of the money generated by raffle ticket sales.

Tickets are $1 each or six tickets for $5.
